3rd International Convention of

Asia Scholars

Singapore
19–22 August 2003

Organised by

ICAS 3

Paul van der Velde, co-founder of ICAS and Secretary of International Convention of Asia Scholars (ICAS), hereby gives his weekly contribution on ICAS 3 in the year 2003.

A short summary

The organizer of ICAS 3, Alan Chan of the National University of Singapore, reminded us of another aspect of globalization. ‘The planning of the Convention took an uncertain turn when SARS (Severe Acute Respiratory Syndrome) brought international travel almost to a complete standstill.’ ICAS 3 at the Raffles City Convention Centre was the first big meeting which was allowed to take place in Singapore once SARS had abated. That pandemic hardly effected the attendance. With more than a thousand participants gathering in more than 250 panels it not only showcased the vitality of Asian studies in Asia itself, but also proved that the intuitive decision to move ICAS to Asia was completely justified.

It enabled a direct connection to the Asian environment not only in the convention center itself, but also to explore the many attraction multicultural Singapore has to offer. Alan Chan noted: ‘The ICAS serves an important function in promoting Asia research and in providing a forum for scholarly exchange and collaboration. We are indeed pleased that we are able to bring ICAS for the first time to Asia.’

It would not be the last time, because the next three editions would all take place in Asia. Being in there offers an ideal breeding ground to refine long-standing theories and to develop new, more Asia informed ones. In particular, the time-space compression experienced in Asian countries in their radical reforms in the past sixty years offer a unique opportunity to study some of the most important present-day issues. These include questions of institutional change, social transformation, market reform, ethnic conflict, environmental hazard, national security, urbanization, migration, political control and resistance, social marginalization, inequality, to name but a few. All these questions were clearly outlined in the first book of abstracts which the participants found in their neatly designed ICAS 3 conference bag along with the program book.

ICAS 3 Singapore brought ICAS to Asia for the first time. With a significant presence of scholars from Asia, ICAS 3 hopefully helped in a small way to break down a few silos and build new bridges for Asia research.” (Prof. Allan Chan organizer ICAS 3 Singapore)

*T*he Kala symbol is found in the Buddhist and Hindu cultures of Asia. Kala was a demon who stole the elixir of immortality from the gods in order that only he would be immortal. The god Visnu struck him in the mouth with his sword, so that only his head became immortal. Kala's head came to symbolize the immortal bliss attained through enlightenment. This gold armband bearing Kala's image was discovered in Singapore in 1926. It originates from the 14th-century kingdom of Temasik.

WELCOME

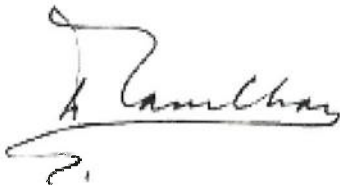

On behalf of the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences and the Asia Research Institute, National University of Singapore, it is my privilege and pleasure to welcome you to the Third International Convention of Asia Scholars (ICAS3) and to a SARS-free Singapore!

The ICAS serves an important function in promoting Asia research and in providing a forum for scholarly exchange and collaboration. We are indeed pleased that we are able to bring ICAS for the first time to Asia.

The planning of the Convention took an uncertain turn when SARS brought international travel almost to a complete standstill. When the situation improved, thanks in no small measure to the courage and dedication of our healthcare workers, we found ourselves having to complete a great many tasks in a relatively short period of time. I am pleased to report that over 1,000 participants from some 60 countries have registered for the Convention. The number of cancellations has been thankfully small. To our participants, including the many exhibitors who are taking part in this event, we thank you for your patience and understanding. To our sponsors, we are grateful for your support, without which ICAS3 would not have been possible. Last but not least, I would like to take this opportunity to thank also our staff at the ICAS3 Secretariat, who so often worked late into the night over the past couple of months and whose commitment, enthusiasm, and professionalism render the planning of ICAS3 a delightful undertaking.

I wish all participants a productive and enjoyable conference. I hope you will also have a chance to explore the many attractions that Singapore has to offer.

With best wishes,

Alan K.L. Chan

LOCAL INFORMATION

Language:

There are four official languages in Singapore: English, Malay, Chinese and Tamil. English is the language of the administration and is widely spoken.

Climate:

Singapore is an equatorial country with relatively uniform temperature, high humidity and abundant rainfall. Average daily temperature ranges between 26.8°C - 31°C.

Electricity:

Singapore voltage is 220-240 volts AC, 50 cycles per second. On request, most hotels will provide transformers to visitors with electrical appliances of a different voltage, such as 110-120 volts, 60 cycles per second.

Drinking Water:

It is perfectly safe to drink water straight from the tap in Singapore. However, for those who prefer bottled mineral water, local supermarkets and grocers always have ample stocks.

Postal Services:

Singapore Post operates a network of more than 1,300 postal outlets conveniently located throughout the island. These outlets offer a wide range of postal, telecommunication and agency services. Most postal outlets are open Monday through Friday, from 8.30 am to 5 pm and until 1 pm on Saturday.

Delegates who have booked their hotel with Orient Explorer will be provided with a one-way transfer to the conference venue (except for the nearby hotels - Carlton, Grand Plaza Parkroyal and Peninsula).

ICAS SECRETARIAT GENERAL AND ALLIANCE

The IIAS serves as the permanent secretariat for the International Convention of Asia Scholars (ICAS). The ICAS conventions aim to enhance and deepen contact between researchers from Asia, Europe, North America, and Australia working in Asian Studies. For more information, please see www.icassecretariat.org.

The International Institute for Asian Studies (IIAS) is a postdoctoral research centre based in Leiden and Amsterdam, the Netherlands.

It is an international facilitating institute, which draws its strength from the long and rich tradition of Dutch Asian Studies.

The main objective of the IIAS is to encourage the study of Asia and to promote national and international cooperation in this field.

The institute focuses on the humanities and the social sciences and, where relevant, on their interaction with other sciences.

The IIAS acts as a (inter)national mediator, bringing various parties together. In keeping with the Dutch tradition of transferring goods and ideas, the IIAS works as a clearinghouse for knowledge and information. This entails activities such as providing information services (Newsletter, database, website), constructing international networks, and setting up international cooperative projects and research programmes. In this way, the IIAS functions as a window on Europe for non-European scholars and contributes to the cultural rapprochement between Asia and Europe.

Asian Studies from Cambridge

Modern Asian Studies

Modern Asian Studies promotes an understanding of contemporary Asia and its rich inheritance. Covering South Asia, South-East Asia, China, and Japan, this quarterly journal publishes original research articles concerned with the history, geography, politics, sociology, literature, economics, and social anthropology and culture of the area. It specialises in the longer monographic essay based on archival materials and new field work. Its expanded book review section offers detailed and in-depth analysis of recent literature.

Journal of the Royal Asiatic Society

Journal of the Royal Asiatic Society has been published by the Society since 1834 and is distinguished not only by its longevity but also by its consistent aim of providing a forum for scholarly articles of the highest quality on all parts of Asia, the Near and Middle East, and the Islamic Mediterranean world, together with north Africa and Ethiopia. It publishes articles on history, anthropology, archaeology, architecture, literature, language, philosophy, religion and art, and up to half of each issue is devoted to reviews of books in these fields.

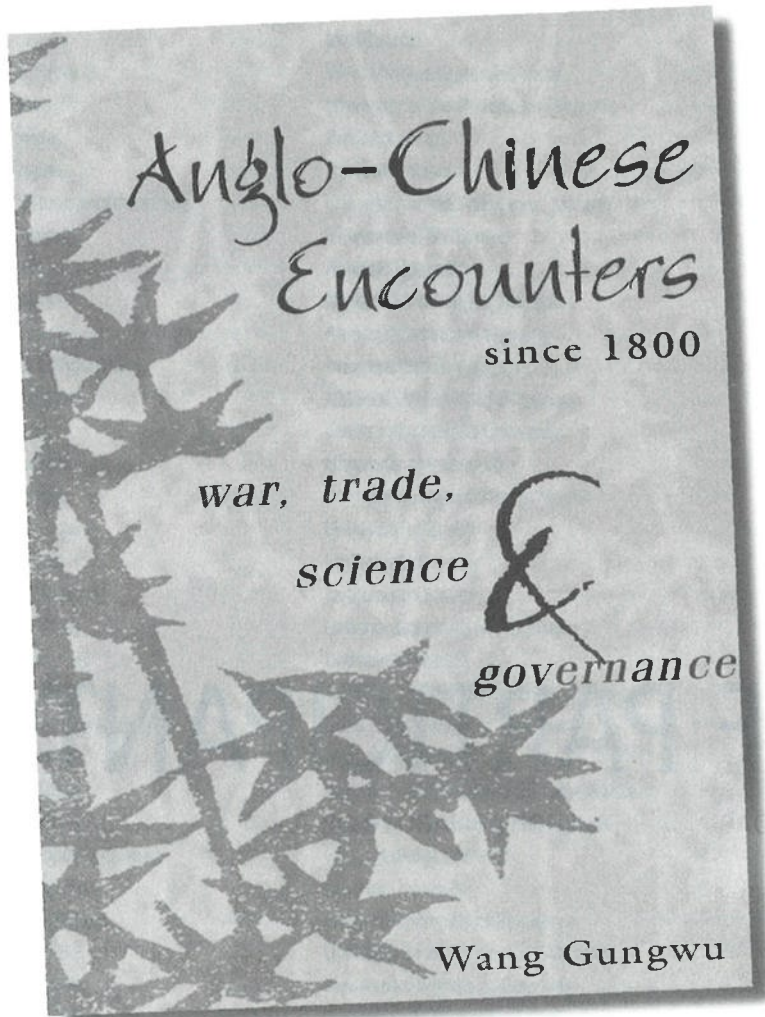

Journal of Southeast Asian Studies

Journal of Southeast Asian Studies is one of the principal outlets for scholarly articles on Southeast Asia (Brunei, Cambodia, Indonesia, Laos, Malaysia, Myanmar, the Philippines, Singapore, Thailand and Vietnam). Embracing a wide range of academic disciplines in the humanities and social sciences, the journal publishes manuscripts oriented toward a scholarly readership but written to be accessible to non-specialists. The extensive book review section includes works in Southeast Asian languages.

Professor Wang Gungwu is Director of the East Asian Institute, National University of Singapore. His publications include Binds Us in Time: Nation and Civilisation in Asia (2002) and To Act is to Know: Chinese Dilemmas (2002). His beautifully written and penetrating study of the relationship between China and the Chinese with imperial Britain examines the possibilities in, as well as the limits of their encounters. It takes the story beyond the clichés of opium, fighting and the diplomatic skills needed to fend off rivals and enemies; it probes some areas of more intimate encounters, not least the beginnings of a wider English-speaking future. Students and scholars will enjoy and benefit the erudition of one of the leading scholars in the field.
